

Name: Key

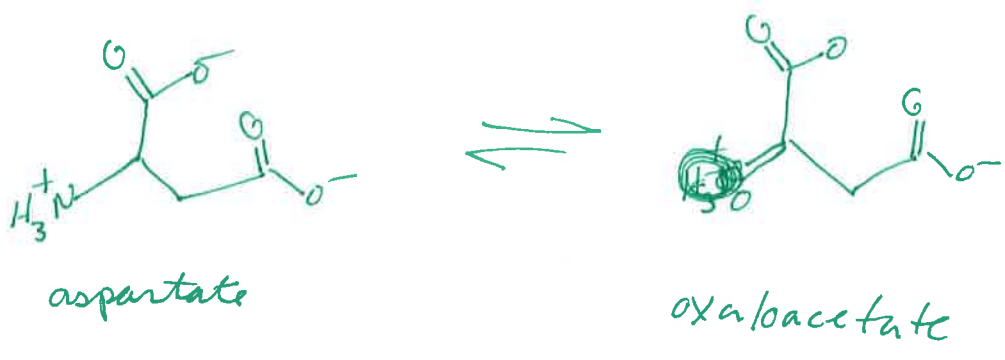

Today in class, we are going to study the transamination reaction which converts an α -amino acid into an α -keto acid. There are three amino acids that become intermediates in pathways that we have already studied when they are converted into their α -keto acid form. For each draw and name the α -amino acid and the α -keto acid molecules.

1.

2.

3.

